Practice overview

Sophia is a pupil barrister specialising in family law. She is gaining experience in all areas of Chambers' family law work, including financial dispute resolution, public and private children law and international family law.

Sophia trained as a solicitor at Macfarlanes LLP, qualifying in 2021 into the litigation and dispute resolution department. Subsequently, she was a legal adviser in the family Magistrates Court, providing advice on the law and procedure in a range of family proceedings including children (public and private) and injunctive proceedings.

Sophia is efficient, empathetic and good at building working relationships with professional and lay clients.
